Industry: Microprocessor-based Air Instruments and Calibration Systems

Company Profile: For nearly three decades, F&J SPECIALTY PRODUCTS, INC has been leading the field in the design and manufacture of high performance advanced technology digital airflow calibration and air sampling systems in the nuclear power industry.

Operating from its Florida facilities in the USA, it serves customers at a global scale on six continents. With the ability to supply microprocessor-controlled instruments for the air monitoring specialists of radiation protection departments, F&J provides equipment that is more accurate, reliable and automated while introducing monetary savings in the operation, calibration and training functions necessary to support radiation protection air monitoring programs.

Today, all of our products are manufactured to internationally recognized product safety standards and bear the mark certification for North America, or the European Community product safety standards. F&J also provides reliable and responsive customer service.

ADVANCED TECHNOLOGY SYSTEMS

F&J's state-of-the-art air sampling and airflow calibration systems provide a fully digital system that is integrable with a centralized computer system interface necessary for efficient operations of remote and unattended air sampling/monitoring stations.

The diversity of our product line allows air monitoring specialists to select from traditional analog air sampling designs, basic yet powerful feature-rich digital designs to comprehensive digital systems integrating the digital air sampling system with other instruments such as radiation detectors, meteorological stations, GPS and various communication options

Industry: Money Management Firm

Company Profile: Registered under the Securities Act of 1934, we are a full service brokerage and money management firm. We service several thousand clients across the United States and the World. We look forward to including you among this discriminating group in the near future.

We aim to serve our clients in two ways.

- As specialists in financial markets worldwide, our clients are able to capitalize on a wide array of global investment opportunities, including domestic and foreign stocks, international and domestic bonds, mutual funds, unit trusts, options and more. The vision of our firm, since its very inception in the early 1980s, has been to take an investment approach that is not limited by frontiers. Opportunity abounds across the globe, not merely in our backyard.
- As a complementary approach, we also offer sophisticated retirement and estate planning services. Our objective in terms of our relationship with our clients is to provide a "holistic" methodology, one that does not look at investment portfolios or strategies in isolation. We seek to understand how our clients live in order to provide recommendations that make sense, not merely in the more limited terms of their financial lives, but more importantly in the wider context of their family, occupation, goals and dreams.
